Introduction

Overview

This resource addresses men's health in prisons:

Unit 1 helps learners to describe ailments to healthcare staff in prison;

Unit 2 introduces the healthcare service in prison. It introduces learners to the vocabulary for the roles of different healthcare employees in the prison and provides language for accessing the services;

Unit 3 focuses on the benefits of exercise and introduces language to support learners when talking about exercise in prison.

Level: Entry level 1-3 / Scottish Access 2 - Intermediate 1 / CEFR A1 - B1

Structure, learning hours and delivery context

- The resource is divided into 3 units:

Unit 1 Feeling ill in prison

Unit 2 Healthcare in prison

Unit 3 Health and exercise

- The resources developed for each unit may be used independently or together with the self-access workbook 'Healthcare in prison'.
- It takes a whole language approach but focuses on making key language related to healthcare understandable in a prison context.
- Timings are flexible since learners can work through at their own pace, teachers can adapt the resource to suit their learners and build in revision as required and can break down the units into smaller chunks of learning and build in revision as required.
- The resource is suitable for male offenders learning ESOL in prisons.

Unit 1 Feeling ill in prison: teacher's notes

Unit 1 focuses on describing ailments to healthcare staff in prison. This is an important skill for life inside and outside of prison. The unit provides the opportunity to practise talking about common ailments and symptoms. Key language is presented in a dialogue between a prisoner and a prison nurse during a routine diabetes check. He is having problems with his eye sight and foot ulcers. Learners complete word order exercises and substitution charts with useful phrases for talking about health and illness. The context is then used to practise using 'for', 'since' and 'ago' with the present perfect and past simple.

Time: Approximately 90 minutes. Timings are flexible and teachers can break down the units into smaller chunks of learning and build in revision as required.

Aims

- To introduce words associated with health problems and illness.
- To enable learners to talk about their ailments to healthcare staff.
- To develop listening skills – listening for gist and detail.
- To develop learners' awareness of word order.

Objectives

All learners will be able to:

- describe some common ailments
- listen to and understand the main points in a dialogue between a nurse and prisoner
- make sentences using 'have', 'have got', 'feel' etc.

Some learners will be able to:

- write a short description of how they feel in a healthcare application
- label a male body
- write a conversation using words to describe illness
- take part in a role play of a conversation with a nurse

Note: The materials have been developed so that you are able to adapt them to meet the specific health needs of your students and other health needs that are not covered in this unit.

Preparation

You will need:

- a whiteboard (traditional or interactive) or flipchart paper
- a device to play the audio file: TP_Health(men)1_unit1.mp3
- optional: highlighter pens to highlight the verbs in Activity 3
- if attainable, a 'healthcare application' used in the institution you are working
- one copy of each resource sheet for every learner
- a set per pair of learners of the word and image cards printed on card or laminated.

Suggested Procedure

Lead in – Name the problem

- Write 'feeling ill' on the middle of the board or flipchart sheet. Get learners thinking about when they feel ill. How do they feel? Elicit symptoms they can describe. If they struggle to think of any words, tell them to think when they were last ill or try miming a symptom such as a headache.
- Hand out resource 1 and point to the five pictures of symptoms in the warmer activity. Ask the learners to describe the symptoms (suggested answers - chest pain, a headache, a runny nose, a sore throat, a swollen ankle).
- Direct learners' attention to the task on the resource. Ask them to match the phrases to the pictures, writing them under the pictures. Make sure everyone understands the meaning of 'runny' and 'swollen'.

Tip – Use the warmer activity to identify the learners' current health-related vocabulary. This will determine how much to practise the vocabulary later in the lesson.

Differentiation

- Learners at lower levels can practise vocabulary for parts of the body using extension resource 1 'label a male body'. Stretch and challenge more proficient learners with more advanced vocabulary: elicit less common words by pointing to other parts of the body, e.g. armpit.

Activity 1 – What's wrong? Listen to the conversation for the main ideas (10 minutes)

- Focus learners' attention on task 1 on resource 1. Tell learners that they are going to listen to a man who is speaking to a nurse in prison.
- Read the statements together first and get the learners to underline key words. Ask them to compare their words with a partner. Ask the learners to listen to the recording and mark the sentences T for true, F for false.
- Get feedback and elicit the meaning of 'diabetes'. Elicit the answers. Ensure everyone understands the term 'diabetes' (suggested definition: an illness when someone has too much sugar in their blood).

Activity 2 – Listening

- Before listening again, focus learners' attention on task 1 on resource 2. Read the four questions (1 - 4) with the learners. Ask the learners to try answering the questions then play the recording for learners to listen for the words.
- Focus on task 2 and ask learners to read the dialogue with the gaps. Focus on the example to demonstrate the task.
- Working in pairs, ask learners to predict the words that will go in the gaps.
- Play the recording again to listen for the words.

Extension – Role play

- You could set up learners in pairs to practise the dialogue from the recording. Be aware that some learners may not enjoy acting out a role play.

Extension resource 2 – Learning vocabulary

- After the activity, you could give out copies of Vocabulary: match the health problems.
- There are various activities for learners to memorise the words. These work best in pairs if learners are comfortable working together.
 - Snap: Shuffle the cards and lay them face down. Each learner takes his turn to turn over two cards to find a match. If they are successful, they keep the cards in a pile. Learners take it in turns until all the cards have been matched up. The winner is the learner with the most cards.
 - Name the illness: learners take it in turns showing one of the pictures to another learner, who needs to call out the name of the illness. If the learner is correct, they keep the card. Work through all the pictures in this way and then count the cards to find the winner.

Tip – Spend as much time as needed helping learners to memorise this vocabulary.

Activity 3 – Grammar: ordering the words

- Hand out resource 3 and focus on the example sentence.
- If your group are happy to move around the classroom, this activity is a good opportunity for learners to move the words in to order. Write the words 'I've / got / sore / feet' separately on to four sheets of paper and give out the sheets to four learners. Ask them to re-arrange themselves so that they make a sentence with the words. If they are happier sitting down or doing this individually, simply elicit the correct order.
- Ask the learners to write their answers on to the resource. Alternatively you could invite learners to write the statements on the board.

Differentiation:

- You could ask stronger learners to look at the follow-on question and highlight the verbs in the ordered statements. This is shown in the example statement.

Activity 4 – Grammar: for, since and ago (35 minutes)

Task 1 – for or since? (20 minutes)

- Hand out resource 4.
- Take the example sentence, how long have you worn glasses? at the top of resource 4. If your group are happy to discuss this, ask the question to individual learners who wear glasses. Elicit the tense and how it is formed (present perfect: have/has + past participle e.g. I have worn/he has worn)
- Ask the learners the difference between 'for' and 'since'. Focus on the explanation on the resource and elicit the answer from the learners. Write the example on the board.
- Tell learners they are going to practise using 'for' and 'since'. Before setting the task on the resource, do a spoken version first. Choose a simple sentence in the present perfect such as I've worn glasses...six years. Ask a learner to repeat the sentence using for or since, e.g. I've worn glasses for six years. Repeat this with different amounts of time as many times as you want to.

- Set up task 1 on resource 4 for learners to put the time phrases under for or since in the table.

Task 2 – ago and the past

- Elicit the use of 'ago' and work through the examples at the top of resource 5.
- Ask learners to highlight or underline the past simple verbs (saw, gave, stopped).
- Ask learners to complete as much of the verb table as they can.
- Check the answers as a group. This could be done by putting the group in two teams. Someone from one team can say a verb; someone from the other team needs to say the past simple form. If your group would enjoy this, work through all of the verbs in this way.

Differentiation

- For Entry 2 learners, ask them to fill in the column for past simple verbs only.
- For Entry 3 learners, ask if they are able to complete both columns.
- Ask early finishers to look for regular verbs (ending in -ed) and irregular verbs.

Task 3 – for, since and ago

- Set task 3 and give time to complete it. After about five minutes, elicit the answers.

Cooler – vocabulary game

- Use the cards from Vocabulary: match the health problems to revise the vocabulary.
- Give a learner one of the words and ask him to try to describe the illness without saying the word on the card e.g. this is a pain at the top of your body (a headache). The purpose is for the learner to describe the word well enough for the class to say the word. The person who calls out the correct word keeps the card. The learner with the most cards is the winner.
- Let all the learners have a turn. You may also want to do the same to practise other vocabulary from the lesson, such as words from resource 2 (blurred, diabetes). If you do, simply show the word to a learner rather than giving the card to him.

Differentiation

If the learners are at a low level (such as E1), ask them to mime the illness instead of describing it, if they are happy to do so.

Unit 1 Feeling ill in prison: learner resources

Resource 1: Warmer – Name the problem

1. a sore throat

2.

4.

5.

Match the words with the pictures.

a pain in my chest

a swollen ankle

a headache

a runny nose

a sore throat

Activity 1 – Listening: true or false?

A man is speaking to a nurse in prison. Listen to the recording and decide which statements are true (T) and which are false (F).

1. The man is speaking to a dentist. F
2. The man has diabetes.
3. His eyes are fine.
4. He's had sore feet for three weeks.
5. He needs to see an optician.

Resource 2

Activity 2 – Listening

Task 1 – Listening: understanding key words

Listen to the conversation and answer these questions:

1. What word does he use to mean 'can't see anything'? _____
2. What illness is causing these symptoms? _____
3. What is the name of the sore bits on his feet? _____
4. What type of bandage does the nurse put on his feet? a _____

Task 2 – Listening: filling in the gaps

Listen again and follow the conversation. Put the words in to the conversation.

diabetes	blurred	rest	dressing	sore	trouble	ulcers
----------	---------	------	----------	------	---------	--------

Nurse: Good afternoon Mr. Archer. So, you're here for your diabetes check. How are you feeling?

Man: Not very well. I'm having trouble with my eyes and my feet.

Nurse: What's wrong with your eyes?

Man: I can't see very well, even with my glasses on. Everything's (1) _____.

Nurse: Let me have a look at your eyes. Look at me please... Yes, I'm afraid your vision is getting worse. It's a symptom of your (2) _____.

Man: Do I need to see an optician?

Nurse: Yes, you do. I'll make an appointment for you...And how about your feet?

Man: My feet are really (3) _____.

Nurse: Can you take your socks off please?

Man: Yes, of course.

Nurse: Mmm, they're quite bad, aren't they? How long have they been like this?

Man: For about two weeks. I filled in an app to see the foot doctor.

Nurse: Oh yes, the podiatrist.

Man: Yeah that's it...but I'm still waiting.

Nurse: Well, you've got foot (4) _____. That's what these sore bits are.

Man: I had them before - a few years ago, I think.

Nurse: I think you need to (5) _____ in cell for a few days... to help your feet. And I'll get you an appointment with the podiatrist...you know? The foot doctor.

I'll clean your feet now and put a (6) _____ on.

Resource 3

Activity 3 – Grammar: ordering the words

well / very / I / see / can't

I can't see very well. ✎ ✓

1. can't / I / properly / sleep

_____ .

2. feel / I / don't / well / very

_____ .

3. head / hurts / My

_____ .

4. I'm / stressed / feeling

_____ .

5. stomach / got / I've / ache

_____ .

6. bleeding / nose / My / is

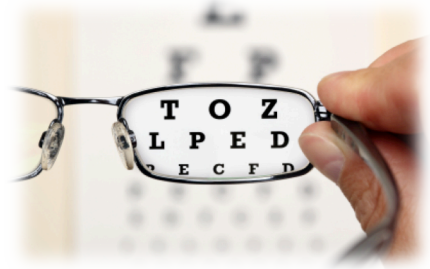

_____ .

7. pain / I've / in / chest / my / got / a

_____ .

8. I've / high / got / pressure / blood

_____ .

Grammar: look at the sentences. What are the verbs in these sentences? Highlight the verbs. For example, in the sentence 'I can't see properly', the verbs are 'can't' and 'see'.

Resource 4

Activity 4 - Grammar: using for, since, ago

How long have you worn glasses?

We can answer this question using 'for' or 'since'.

- We use 'for' to say how long something lasts (for example, for two days).
 - I've been feeling ill for two days.*
 - I've had diabetes for three years.*

for + a period of

- We use 'since' to say when something started (for example, since Monday).
 - His feet have been sore since last Monday.*
 - I've worn glasses since January.*

since + point in time

Task 1 – for or since?

Put the words or phrases under for or since.

one year 2013 yesterday five days two months
12.15 I came to prison five o'clock a long time six weeks

for	Since
one year

What tense do we use with 'for' and 'since'? Look at the examples above.

Resource 5

Task 2 – ago and the past

These sentences are talking about the past. Underline the past simple verbs.

- I saw the doctor three days ago.
- I gave in a healthcare app a month ago.
- I stopped using drugs two months ago.

We use 'ago' when we talk about the past after an amount of time.

a period of time	+	ago
------------------	---	-----

Practise your verbs. Write the past simple of the verbs (E2) and the past participle (E3).

infinitive	past simple	past participle	infinitive	past simple	past participle
be	was/were		see
catch			send
cut			speak
drink			start
feel			stop
have			understand
hurt			write

Task 3 – for, since and ago

Fill in the gaps with for, since or ago.

1. I've had a cold since Tuesday.
2. I had a sore throat two days _____.
3. I've been feeling ill _____ 5 days.

4. I've been feeling down _____ a few weeks.
5. He's been on D-wing _____ April.
6. I filled in an app about three weeks _____.
7. I've had diabetes _____ 2008.
