Unit 2 Healthcare in prison: teachers' notes

Overview

This unit focuses on people and where they work in healthcare, as well as their specific roles. It also introduces a prisoner asking for help and receiving advice and provides practice in asking for help, using indirect language.

Level: Entry level 1-3 / Access 2 – National 4 / CEFR A1 - B1

Time: Approximately 90 minutes. Timings are flexible and teachers can break down the units into smaller chunks of learning and build in revision as required.

Aims

- To provide authentic listening practice for ESOL learners wanting to access healthcare services in a prison.
- To develop skills in listening for gist and detail in a healthcare context.
- To provide opportunities for practising speaking about healthcare problems.
- To introduce words about people who work in healthcare and healthcare services.

Objectives

All learners will be able to:

- name and pronounce different roles of healthcare workers in prison: optician, pharmacist, chiropodist, psychiatrist, dentist, doctor, nurse, Listener, healthcare reps
- match specific illnesses/ailments with the appropriate healthcare professional
- identify speaker and situation in dialogues between healthcare workers and prisoners
- complete an application form (app) for healthcare
- read and understand a text about problems and say whom they should see in healthcare.

Some learners will be able to:

- add extra detail in the comment box on the app (application)
- role play a healthcare assistant and an ill prisoner asking for advice
- use phrases to make requests sound more polite.

Preparation

You will need:

- a device to play the audio file: TP_Health(men)1_unit2.mp3
- resources 1a and b to project / display on an interactive whiteboard (IWB) and to copy and cut up to use in group work
- to cut up resource 2 and glue the matching ailments back to back with the jobs
- to decide which level of resources 4 and 5 you need for each learner
- copies of resources 2 - 5 for each learner
- copies, cut up, of resource 6 for the Entry 1/2 role play extension
- realia – healthcare apps from the prison you teach in
- dictionaries

Suggested Procedure

Activity 1 Lead in

- Show the pictures of healthcare workers (Resource 1 in additional resources) at the end of this unit) on the IWB or use the cut up pictures to elicit the names of the various healthcare professionals. You could give a set to each pair or small group.
- Ask learners to brainstorm as many medical workers or problems as they can and put their ideas on the board.

Differentiation

Entry 1 learners could work with selected pictures to practise the key vocabulary: doctor, nurse, dentist, pharmacist, optician. Early finishers could try testing each other by trying to remember the words within a minute time limit.

Activity 2: Pronunciation

Some healthcare workers have difficult to pronounce job titles. Hand out Worksheet 1 (resource 2) and focus learners' attention on task 1.

- First ask the learners to listen while you read the words, then demonstrate how to mark syllables on words on the board. Break the words up into syllables, then mark the stress on the board. Some people use spots, others underline the sounds.
- Now do task 2. Focus on 'c' and the different sounds. Point out that the same spelling can have different sounds.

My health and wellbeing in prison (men): Healthcare in prison – teachers' pack

- Finally draw learners' attention to the following pronunciation rules: that 'ph' sounds like 'f' and 'ps' has a silent 'p'. Encourage learners to listen and repeat, correcting when necessary.

Differentiation

- Use the cut-up words from resource 1b to practise the pronunciation in pairs or groups.
- You could use the cut-up words and pictures either as a Pelmanism game on the board, or drag and drop on an IWB.
- To play Pelmanism, put learners into teams and demonstrate by asking somebody to choose two cards. If they don't match, put them back and ask another team for two cards. If they match they keep the cards and that team has another turn.

Tip - You could add a wild card if you wanted to make it harder.

Activity 3 – Speaking

- Hand out resource 3 and focus learners' attention on task 1. Elicit the different healthcare workers who work in the prison.
- Ask the learners to read through the list of health problems in task 2, encouraging them to check the meaning of unknown words in dictionaries.
- Put them into pairs or groups to discuss the questions. (You might pair them up according to how long they've been there - newer with more experienced prisoners.)

Activity 3 – Consolidating new vocabulary

Entry 1 learners could match the pictures of the health professionals in resource 1a with the role names from resource 1b. Entry 2 learners could match the words, pictures and the ailment

Extension/alternative:

Higher level learners could write sentences about each problem in resource 1b, e.g. 'You see the nurse for asthma inhalers.'

Activity 4 – Listening skills development

Use resource 4 at E1, E2 and E3, which are all based on the same audio recording, for this activity. Learners at different levels can complete the different worksheets at the same time.

My health and wellbeing in prison (men): Healthcare in prison – teachers' pack

- Tell the learners they are going to hear three conversations about healthcare.
- Before they listen pre-teach key words from the audio script. Say them and write them on the board: e.g. cavities; follow-up appointment; pins and needles. Elicit what the words mean or teach them.
- Play each dialogue in turn. Ask learners what each one is about. What's the problem? Who's the health worker? What does the health worker tell the prisoner to do?
- Hand out the activity resource 4, one for each learner, at the appropriate level:

Entry 1

Task 1: Direct learners to match key words with pictures on their sheet.

Task 2: Learners listen and match each speaker's problem to the pictures by writing a, b or c in the space.

Task 3: Learners read the simplified app and check any words they don't know. Then they listen and complete it for the prisoners in the audio.

Entry 2

Task 1: learners listen to the three dialogues and identify to whom the patient is speaking.

Task 2: learners listen again and answer the true/false comprehension questions.

Entry 3

Task 1: Listening for gist

- Ask the learners to read the questions first.
- Let them listen once and answer the gist questions.

Task 2: Listening for detail

1. Give learners the healthcare app. Ask some orientation questions:
 - Where do you put the name?
 - What other information do you need to write?
2. Show them the comments section. Ask what you could write there.
3. Elicit what they have to do to complete the form (tick the box).
4. Now let them listen again and complete the app (application form) for each person. Check answers after each dialogue, so they can re-use the form.

Task 3:

- Cut up resource 4b into the three gapped dialogues.
- They listen one more time to complete the gaps in the dialogues.

Activity 5 – Reading and speaking

Entry 3

- Hand out resource 5 for activity 5 Entry 3
- Ask the learners read the texts, then put them into small groups to discuss who they should see in healthcare and why. Ask each group to feed back afterwards.

Differentiation

Entry 2

- Hand out resource 5 for Entry 2
- Put the learners into groups of 3. Read out the texts from the Entry 3 sheet or let the learners read the texts and work out the true/false questions in their small groups.
- Then ask them to discuss whom they should see in healthcare and why. Ask each group to feed back afterwards.

Entry 1

- Ask the learners to work in pairs.
- Hand out the role play dialogue on resource 6, cut up for each pair of learners.
- Ask the learners to re-order the sentences to make a short conversation. Demonstrate by doing the first conversation together as an example.
- When completed, drill the first dialogue and then direct the learners to practise in pairs.
- For extra practice, ask them to swap partners, and roles, and repeat the exercise.

Follow-up or extension activities

Extension activity for higher level learners

Language focus: being polite

- Explain or demonstrate by tone of voice and body language which of the phrases below is polite. Ask learners to say what's different: the polite ones have extra words/ are longer/ less simple. Ask why it's important to be polite.
- Write the following on the board:

My health and wellbeing in prison (men): Healthcare in prison – teachers' pack

sit down

please sit down

come here

would you mind coming here

hold the door

please hold the door

it's closed

I'm sorry it's closed

- Tell the men to look at the polite phrases and elicit other polite ways to say these.
- Now let them do the exercise in pairs or small groups and check afterwards. There may be some variations.

Entry 2 speaking extension: role-play

This could be used as an extension activity, if time allows.

- Hand out the Entry 2 role play resource 5.
- Read through the dialogue together, modelling intonation and pronunciation.
- Then put the learners into pairs to practise.
- For an extra challenge, they could memorise one of the dialogues.

Follow up work

1. Distribute any healthcare apps that are used in your prison. Ask learners to use dictionaries to check the meaning of unknown words and to add these to their personal dictionaries, if they have created one. Differentiate tasks by outcome according to the levels in your class. Lower levels could scan for words that you provide the definitions for. Higher level learners could attempt to fill them in based upon imaginary cases.
2. Ask the learners to research the different clinics that are available at their healthcare centre, to help with specific problems, e.g. asthma, sleep, sexual health and to fill in a table with the information to bring to the next class.

Resource 5 (Entry 3) Activity 5 Reading and speaking

Read about 3 men with health problems. Who should they see?

I get a lot of headaches. Sometimes if I try to read a book I can't see the words, even when I wear my reading glasses. I don't read much now. I prefer to watch TV. It's a problem when I get letters. I can't always see them clearly and I don't really want other people to read them because they are private – you know ..from my wife.

Ferat

I get a lot of aches and pains in my feet. For the last two years, I can't get shoes to fit. They all feel too small and tight across the toes. I've only got one pair of shoes that fit, and they're broken now. I think I need someone to look at my feet and see if there's a problem with them.

Park

I can't smile or laugh any more because of my teeth. All of them are brown and they're bad. I've only got two good ones left, and one of those is gold. It's my own fault, I never looked after them properly and when I took methadone, I didn't listen to the doctor, who told me to clean my teeth after I took the medicine. The worst thing is the pain – it's so bad, I can't live with it.

Jean Paul
