- Chiropodist: I take care of problems with your feet
- Mental health in-reach team: we help you with depression*, stress* and when you are feeling sad or lonely.

Task 5

Speaking clearly

Sound patterns

English spelling is crazy! Many English words and spellings come from different languages. A lot of our medical words are Greek and Latin and are very long and hard to say.

1. Can you say these healthcare words correctly?

- | | | |
|---------------------------|-----------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| • ch iropodist | ch sounds like 'sh' | shi ro po dist |
| • opt ci an | ci sounds like 'sh' | op ti shun |
| • in ti ction | ti sounds like 'sh' | in jek shun |
| • blood ssu re | ssu sounds like 'sh' | blud pres h uh |
| • ph ysiotherapist | ph sounds like 'f' | fiz ee o ther a pist |
| • ph armacist | ph sounds like 'f' | far muh sist |
| | ci sounds like 's' | |

Ask someone to help with these activities.

Show them the words.

Say 'Excuse me. How do you say this properly, please?'

Keep practising and the sounds will get easier to say.

2. Syllable stress

Words are made up of parts, called syllables. In English, there are stressed and unstressed syllables. Stressed syllables sound louder and stronger. Unstressed syllables are quiet, quick and sometimes you can't hear them at all.

Examples:

relax re | lax

different diff | e | rent diff | rent

dentist den | tist

different relax!

dentist

Now practise saying these words, with the right syllable stress.
It will help you to understand other people, and it will help other people to understand you!

First syllable stress	Second syllable stress
health care men tal pris oner ac cident lon ely med icine bro ken	as sis tant chi ro podist opt ti cian inj ec tion ap point ment com plain de pre ssion

3. Syllable stress puzzle. Read the words. Find your way from the start to the finish. All the words should have the same stress patterns- all first syllable, or all second syllable. There is only one possible way.

↓ Start here

healthcar e	mental	complain	doctor	dentist	application people	medicine	injection	lonely	number	waiting
practise	broken	appointment	optician	assistant	treatment
