Introduction

This resource has been produced in two different formats:

- a self-access resource for learners with online activities
- this teacher's pack, including teacher's notes and worksheets to download

Overview

This resource, Someone at the door – The noisy television, is part of Unit 1 of English in my home, which aims to give ESOL learners the confidence and the language to deal with situations they may encounter in their homes.

There are three units of English in my home:

Unit 1 Someone at the door aims to give learners confidence and equip them with the language necessary to deal with situations where unexpected callers (e.g. an electricity meter reader) arrive at the door.

Unit 2 Someone on the phone shows how to deal with incoming phone calls from a range of people. This includes unwanted calls (e.g. marketing cold calls).

Unit 3 Something in the post features some common types of mail that people receive (e.g. a utility bill), and enables learners to understand what the text means, and to know what to do in response.

Level: Entry 2 / Access 3 in Scotland / CEF A2. The materials are designed to be flexible in terms of differentiation, and are accessible to established E2 learners and at the same time relevant to E1, as, well as E3 and L1.

Structure, learning hours and delivery context

English in my home provides a minimum of 15 hours of learning in a classroom or self-access context through a series of three linked units. Each unit can be taught as a standalone. Here is an overview of the content of each unit. Each unit has several topics:

Unit 1: Someone at the door (includes films)

- Topic a: Electricity meter reading
- Topic b: Charity collection
- Topic c: Parcel delivery
- Topic d: The neighbour
- Topic e: The noisy television
- Topic f: The teacher's visit

Unit 2: Someone on the phone (includes films)

- Topic a: Cold call
- Topic b: Wrong number
- Topic c: An emergency
- Topic d: Getting a plumber
- Topic e: Changing an appointment
- Topic f: The teacher's phone call

Unit 3: Something in the post

- Topic a: Bank statement
- Topic b: Phone bill
- Topic c: Attempted delivery note
- Topic d: Note from a neighbour

Each of the six topics in Someone at the door and Someone on the phone features a short film. These films have been scripted specifically for the project, and involve actors. The two central characters are a married Indian couple, who have recently moved to the UK, and who are getting used to life here. Each film focuses on them in a specific scenario, such as dealing with a meter reader who arrives at their flat, or dealing with unwanted cold calls on the telephone. ESOL learners should be able to relate to the experiences of the couple.

The learner materials and teacher notes contain activities for use before, during and after watching the films. They enable the learners to notice, learn and use some of the functional language featured in the films.

Something in the post, uses semi-authentic material of the kinds that learners may receive in their home, and helps them to understand these and know what action is needed.

Most topics provide approximately 60 minutes of classroom time. Units 1 and 2 can last longer if teachers choose to use the transcripts, for example by getting the learners to act out sections of the dialogues.

Unit 1 Someone at the door: overview

The unit provides at least 6 hours of classroom time, and covers 6 topics. Each topic features a short film, commissioned by the British Council for the ESOL Nexus project, and filmed with professional actors. The films aim to show real-life situations in which ESOL learners may find themselves, and the accompanying classroom and self-study materials aim to give learners the language they need to deal with a range of household situations.

The 6 topics of Someone at the door are called Electricity Meter Reading, Charity Collection, Parcel delivery, The Neighbour, The Noisy Television and The Teacher's Visit and can be used in any order.

The noisy television – teacher's notes

Time: Approximately 2 hours. Timings are flexible and could take longer.

Aims - To enable learners to make polite requests to neighbours or other acquaintances both orally and in writing

Objectives

Learners will:

- understand the gist and detail of the film
- revise, learn and practise using some vocabulary from the film
- be able to make polite requests e.g. 'Please can you turn your TV down.'
- be able to identify the reasons for requests e.g. 'I'm working' and 'I can't think.'
- write a note to a neighbour making a request and giving the reason

Preparation

You will need:

- An interactive whiteboard or data projector to show the film 'The noisy television' or computers for each learner/pair of learners, with headphones or audio speakers
- Related self-access activities for learners can be found at:
- <http://esol.britishcouncil.org/english-my-home/noisy-television>
- Learner handouts (pages 13 - 18)
- Teacher resources (page 19) for Task 6. Copy and cut up enough reasons and requests cards for each pair of learners
- If internet access/computers are not available, you will need to prepare your own audio recordings using the transcripts provided (Pages 20 - 22)
- 'The noisy television' Powerpoint which contains hyperlinks to the interactive games.

A note about interactive whiteboards (IWBs):

Interactive activities are available to support this resource. We have provided links to each individual activity in the teachers' notes (these activities are also available to learners as self-access items). On some interactive whiteboards (not all), the activities will be fully functional (i.e. you will be able to touch the screen to drag and drop, and so on). Links for interactive whiteboards appear in boxes throughout the resource and in the accompanying Powerpoint. As part of your preparation before the session you may wish to bookmark the activities you plan to use.

Suggested Procedure

Lead-in (Powerpoint slide 1)

- Give out Handout 1 and tell learners to look at the photograph. Write these questions on the board. If you have a computer and IWB, show slide 1 of the Powerpoint.
  1. Who ____ these people?
  2. Who ____ the visitor?
  3. What _____ he want?
- Tell learners this picture comes from a film they are going to watch. Ask them to discuss in pairs what words are missing. Elicit answers, and drill the questions before writing the answers in the gaps. Answers: 1. are 2. is 3. does
- Ask learners to guess the answers to these questions.
- In feedback, elicit or explain the answer to Question 1. If learners have watched any of the other videos from the 'English in my home' series, they'll know that the couple are Arjun and Sunita. Establish that they are a couple and they are standing in the hall of their home, talking to someone.
- Elicit answers to Question 2, but don't confirm or deny anything about who the visitor is just yet. Elicit answers to Question 3. You could make learners express their answers in sentences with 'want to' e.g. He wants to borrow something. He wants to sell something.

First viewing of video: gist listening task (slide 2)

- Tell learners they are now going to watch the film so they can answer the questions on the whiteboard.
- Add a fourth question for learners to think about - 'Does he get what he wants?' or show slide 2.
- Play the video 'The Noisy Television'. After watching, put learners in pairs or groups to discuss the questions for a couple of minutes. Monitor to gauge how much they have understood.
- Elicit answers.
  1. Arjun, who lives in the flat, and his wife, Sunita. The man on the right is Bob.
  2. The visitor is Bob - Arjun and Sunita's neighbour.
  3. He wants Arjun to turn down the volume on his television.
  4. Yes, Arjun turns down the volume, but at first, he doesn't understand.

Vocabulary check

- 'Noisy' - check learners can understand and pronounce it. Elicit the opposite 'quiet'.
- 'Thin' - Ask 'Why can the neighbour hear the television?' to elicit and drill 'Because the walls are thin'. Check pronunciation of 'th'.
- 'Turn down' - Check learners understand. Encourage them to practise saying, 'He wants Arjun to turn down his television'. Demonstrate 'turn up' and 'turn down' with the volume setting on a phone.

Task 1 - Understanding the details (slides 3 and 4)

- Tell learners to look at Task 1 on Handout 1 and/or show slide 3. Ask the learners to read the questions and then discuss in their pairs whether the statements are true or false, from what they remember from the first viewing.
- Don't feed back on this task, but play the film again and ask learners to confirm, change or add answers.
- When the film is finished get them to check again briefly in their pairs or groups, and then conduct feedback. Make sure learners understand why Bob wants Arjun to turn down the TV, and why Sunita is angry with Arjun.
- You can display this interactive version of the activity when you elicit feedback and review the questions by clicking on "next question" to show each of the eight statements. The link to the activity is also on slide 4 of the Powerpoint.

<http://gamedata.bcdev.org.uk/p/MTU5MjE=>

Task 2 - Vocabulary from the film (slides 5, 6 and 7)

- Write the following words on the board or show slide 5.
neighbour, turn down, noisy, bother, polite, reasons, thin, thirsty.
- Ask learners to discuss in groups if they heard the words used in the film, who used them and how. You can elicit feedback and write on whiteboard.
- Monitor the learners' discussions to find out how much knowledge they have, but you don't need to feedback on this task.
- Give out Handout 2 and/or show slide 6. Ask learners to complete Task 2 in pairs. If learners have good reading and dictionary skills you could give them an English – English dictionary to help. Early finishers could put the paper away and practise spelling the words.

Someone at the door – The noisy television – Teachers' pack

- The IWB version of the activity can be used to review the correct answers. Drill words to check pronunciation and word stress. Click on the link below or on slide 7 of the Powerpoint, which will lead you to an interactive version of this task.

<http://gamedata.bcdev.org.uk/p/MTU5MjM=>

Task 3: Practise using the words (slide 8)

- Tell learners to fold Handout 2 in half so they can only see Task 3 or show slide 8.
- Set up learners in pairs to ask and answer the questions. Encourage them to answer with sentences, not single words. You could get early finishers to write some of their answers.

Task 4: Language focus: reasons and requests (slides 9,10 and 11)

- Ask the learners: How does Bob ask Arjun to turn down his TV? What words does he use? Let learners discuss this for a short time, and monitor to see how many have got the point.

Answer: He gives reasons, he doesn't actually ask him to turn it down.

You may have to explain that this is quite idiosyncratic of a polite British person and may be hard for learners to understand, especially those who come from backgrounds where they are more used to saying exactly what they mean.

- Give out Handout 3 and tell learners to look at Task 4 and/or look at slide 9. Demonstrate the task: learners write the sentences in the correct spaces, according to what Bob and Sunita say and actually mean.
- Encourage the learners to work in pairs or groups to write the sentences in the correct column.
- Show slide 10 during feedback for learners to check against. For an interactive version of the activity to display and complete on the whiteboard, use this link below or click on the link on slide 11.

<http://gamedata.bcdev.org.uk/p/MTU5MjQ=>

- Check understanding of reasons and requests by asking learners to give you more examples.
- Focus on the requests: How can we make a request in English? Elicit that in the film Arjun uses 'Can you...?' Ask if learners know another word we can use instead of can, and try to elicit 'Could you..?' Ask if the meaning is the same, and try to elicit, that it is the same but that 'could' is possibly a bit more polite or tentative (for a bigger request).

Someone at the door – The noisy television – Teachers' pack

- Drill the two sentences: Please can you turn down your television? and Please can you get me a drink? Learners should not read off the board while you do this. Then get learners to repeat the sentences using could instead of can.

Task 5 - Practise making requests (slides 12 and 13)

- Focus the learners' attention on Task 5 on the handout and/or show slide 12.
- Tell learners to discuss Question 1 in pairs and elicit and drill possible answers. Write the answers on the board and highlight the fact that it's a good idea to say please, and that it can come first or last. Also check that learners are using polite intonation.

(Please) can you make me a sandwich (please)?

(Please) could you make me a sandwich (please)?

- Ask learners to practise making the other requests orally in pairs. Early finishers could think of other things that Sunita might ask Arjun to do.
- If there is time ask learners to write the requests in class, or complete this task for homework.
- For an interactive version of the task, click on the link below or on slide 13. Learners could take it in turns to come to the board to click on the words in the correct order to make Sunita's other questions.

<http://gamedata.bcdev.org.uk/p/MTU5MjU=>

Task 6 - Reasons and requests (slides 14, 15 and 16)

- Re-elicite the sentence 'Please can you turn down the television?' together with the reasons why Bob wants Arjun to turn down the television. Ask 'Why is it important to give reasons?' Answer - because it's polite, because it helps other people to understand us better.
- Tell learners they are going to practise matching reasons and requests. Distribute one set of cut up 'Reasons and requests' cards (Teacher's resource page 19) to each pair of learners in the class. Match one reason and request as an example, and then get learners to match the others in pairs. Monitor to check. Ask early finishers to turn over the request cards, read the reasons, and try to remember the corresponding requests.
- Give out Handout 4 and/or show slide 14. Tell learners to complete Task 6. When you elicit feedback, you (or the learners) could write the answers onto slide 15.
- You can also do/review the activity using the IWB. Encourage learners to come to the board to match what Sunita says with what she means. There is a link to this game on slide 16:

<http://gamedata.bcdev.org.uk/p/MTU5Mjc=>

Extension (or use as a Cooler at the end of the lesson)

- Tell learners to use the set of cut up 'Reasons' cards from before. Model this exchange with two strong learners:

Learner 1 picks up one reason card and reads it to partner: I'm hungry.

Partner replies: Oh, you mean 'Could you make me a sandwich please?'

- Learners practise this exchange in pairs, taking it in turns to pick up a reason card. Early finishers could improvise with their own reasons and requests.

Task 7 - Read a note to your neighbour (slides 17 and 18)

- The focus of this final task is to help learners identify features of good notes.
- Give out Handout 5 of the learner resources, folded so that learners can only see the task instructions and the two questions. And/ or show slide 17. Ask learners to read the instructions and answer questions 1 and 2 in pairs. In feedback discuss what Arjun will write in the note.

Answers:

- Bob's children play outside his flat on Sunday mornings.
- He is going to write a note to Bob.

- Tell learners to unfold the paper and read the two notes and/or show slide 18. Ask them to answer questions 3 and 4. Elicit answers from learners and introduce a discussion about what makes a good note.

Answers:

- Note B is better.
- His wife works at night, so she needs to sleep on Sunday mornings.

- Tell the learners to look at Task 7 (the actual task is at the bottom of the handout) and demonstrate the task: Learners write A, B or both next to the criteria and check with their partner. This task confirms that all learners understand the criteria for a good note.
- In feedback highlight:
  - the layout of the good note (or letter): how to start and finish; to go down a line under the greeting; leave a space before the signature; to sign the note
  - the paragraphs: a friendly greeting; a new paragraph for the main content; a friendly ending: Thank you very much.

Someone at the door – The noisy television – Teachers' pack

- the ways Arjun makes the note polite and friendly: He says I hope you are well; he explains the reason for the problem; he says Thank you very much.
- Spelling and grammar are not the only important things in writing.

Task 8 - Learners write a note to their neighbour (slide 19)

- Give out Handout 6. Tell learners to look at Task 8 and/or look at slide 19. Ask learners to read the task and discuss the two questions in pairs.

Answers:

What's your problem?

You can't pick up your daughter from school because you have a hospital appointment.

What are you going to do?

You are going to write a note to your neighbour to ask her to pick up your daughter.

- Elicit feedback, checking that all learners understand what the problem is and what they are going to write. There are several ways you could approach the writing task:
  - Learners write the note in pairs (and you could nominate the weaker learner in each pair to have the pen and do the actual writing). Mini-whiteboards would be ideal for this.
  - Learners write the note individually on mini-whiteboards, before writing on the paper. They could then show their note to each other and assess each other's writing using the same questions as on the handout (display these on the board).
  - Learners could write the note individually on the handout, and then self assess using the questions on the handout, and then show their note to a partner to see if their partner agrees. Finally the teacher could look at the note, and agree or disagree with the learners' assessment.

Refer learners to the online versions of these ESOL Nexus activities about The noisy television: <http://esol.britishcouncil.org/english-my-home/noisy-television> and encourage them to complete other self-access activities from the 'English in my home' series.

Handout 1

Task 1: understanding the film

Watch the film. Are the statements true or false?

1. Arjun is busy when Bob knocks on the door.
2. Bob lives near Arjun and Sunita.
3. Bob wants to watch the football with Arjun.
4. Bob is working in his flat.
5. Bob wants Arjun to turn down his TV.
6. Sunita is angry with Arjun.
7. Bob says to Arjun 'Please can you turn your TV down?'
8. Sunita is happy with her tea.

Handout 2

Task 2: Vocabulary from the film

neighbour   turn down   noisy   bother   polite   reasons   thin   thirsty

1. Bob can hear Arjun's TV because it is very .....
2. Bob thinks Arjun is busy, so he says 'I'm sorry to ..... you'. He doesn't want to make trouble for Arjun.
3. Bob was not rude to Arjun. He was very ..... and friendly.
4. Bob is Arjun and Sunita's ..... He lives in the next flat.
5. The walls of Bob's flat are very ..... That's why he can hear Arjun's TV.
6. Bob wants Arjun to ..... his TV because it is very noisy. He wants him to make the volume quieter.
7. Sunita asks Arjun for a drink because she is .....
8. There are three ..... why Arjun's TV is a problem for Bob: 1. The TV is very noisy. 2. The walls are thin. 3. He is working and he can hear Arjun's TV.

Task 3: Practise using the words

Now ask and answer the questions with your partner. Don't look at Task 2.

1. Who is Bob?
2. What does he want Arjun to do?
3. Why does he want him to do this? Give three reasons.
4. When was the last time you didn't come to class? What was the reason?
5. What do you like to drink when you are very thirsty?
6. Was Bob rude to Arjun?

Handout 3

Task 4: Requests and reasons

Here are some sentences from the film. What do Bob and Sunita say? What do they mean?
Copy the sentences into the right column.

I can hear your television.

Can you get me something to drink?

Please can you turn your TV down?

I need peace and quiet.

I'm working.

I'm thirsty.

The walls are very thin.

I can't think.

| What does Bob say?    | What does he mean?  |
|-----------------------|---------------------|
| 1. ....               | 1. ....             |
| 2. ....               |                     |
| 3. ....               |                     |
| 4. ....               |                     |
| 5. ....               |                     |
| What does Sunita say? | What does she mean? |
| 1. ....               | 1. ....             |

Task 5: Practise making requests

Look at the words. What is Sunita saying to Arjun?

1. make me / sandwich? .....
2. tidy / living room? .....
3. put / clothes / away .....
4. put / rubbish / out? .....
5. empty / washing machine? .....
6. do / washing up? .....

Handout 4

Task 6: Reasons and requests

Match the reasons and the requests

| What Sunita says                               | What she means                            |
|------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
| 1. I'm hungry.                                 | a. Could you help me carry it please?     |
| 2. This bag is very heavy.                     | b. Please can you put them away?          |
| 3. I haven't got any money with me.            | c. Can you open it for me please?         |
| 4. Your clothes are all over the floor.        | d. Could you tidy the living room please? |
| 5. We have visitors coming for dinner tonight. | e. Please could you pay for the coffee?   |
| 6. I can't open this bottle.                   | f. Can you make me a sandwich please?     |

Handout 5

Task 7: Read a note to your neighbour

Bob's children often play outside Arjun's flat early on Sunday morning. Arjun isn't happy about this. He knocks on Bob's door but Bob isn't in, so he decides to write a note to Bob.

1. What is Arjun's problem?
2. What is he going to do?

Now read the two notes.

3. Which note is better? Why?
4. Why is it a problem for Arjun?

A

Can you ask your children not to play outside our flat on Sunday mornings? I am very unhappy about this. We sleep on Sunday mornings.

B

Hi Bob,

I hope you are well.

I have a small problem. Every Sunday morning we can hear your children playing outside our flat. My wife, Sunita, works at the hospital on Saturday nights, so she needs to sleep on Sunday morning. Please could you ask your children to play inside your flat on Sunday mornings?

Thank you very much.

Arjun

Which note? Write A, B or both

1. The beginning is good. ....
2. There is no signature ....
3. It looks like a note. ....
4. It is very polite. ....
5. Arjun doesn't give a reason why it is a problem. ....
6. The grammar is good. ....
7. The spelling is good. ....

Handout 6

Task 8: Write a note to your neighbour

You have an important hospital appointment tomorrow afternoon and you can't pick up your daughter from school. Your neighbour's son is in the same class as your daughter. Write a note to your neighbour. In your note:

- explain your problem
- ask your neighbour to pick up your daughter from school.

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

When you finish read your note again.

Answer the questions. Write yes or no.

- |                                                 |       |
|-------------------------------------------------|-------|
| 1. Is your beginning good?                      | ..... |
| 2. Is your ending good? Did you sign your note? | ..... |
| 3. Does it look like a note?                    | ..... |
| 4. Is your note polite?                         | ..... |
| 5. Did you explain why you have a problem?      | ..... |
| 6. Is your grammar good?                        | ..... |
| 7. Is your spelling good?                       | ..... |

Then ask another learner to read your note. What does he/she think?

Transcript

SCENE 1 – SITTING ROOM

Arjun: Yes! Yes! Come on! Pass the ball! No! Referee!

Sunita: Arjun, I made you some tea. Here is some tea for you.

Arjun Oh, great, Sunita. Thanks.

Sunita Are you OK now? Have you got everything you need?

Sunita Door bell rings. Arjun! The door!

Arjun Can you get it? I'm busy. I'm busy. I'll answer the door.

SCENE 2 – DOORWAY

Arjun: Hello?

Neighbour: Oh hello, I'm Bob. I'm your neighbour.

Arjun: Oh yes, I think I know you. I'm Arjun. You live next door. Hello.

Neighbour: Sorry to bother you. It's just, well, when I'm at home, and when your TV's on, er, well, I can hear your television.

Arjun: Yes, I'm watching television.

Neighbour: Yes, I know that. But err, well, you see, the thing is... I can hear your TV. From my flat.

Arjun: Oh... right.

Neighbour: Yeah, so....

Arjun: So, you can hear my television?

Neighbour: Yes, the football, I can hear everything. So....

Arjun: Ah, I see, I see what you mean now.

Neighbour: Thank you, if that's OK.

Arjun: You're listening to my television because you don't have a television, so you'd like to come in and watch the football with us? Come in!

Neighbour: But wait, that's not -

Arjun: It's a good match.

Neighbour: Well, maybe, but I can hear it. The walls are very thin. And I can hear you!

Arjun: And?

Neighbour: Well, you see, I'm working... my home is also my office.

Arjun: Oh? Yes, so?

Neighbour: And I need, er, quiet, I need peace and quiet. And I can't think... with all the noise.

Someone at the door – The noisy television – Teachers' pack

- Sunita: Arjun! Hello, I'm so sorry.
- Arjun: What did you do wrong now?
- Sunita: 'What did I do wrong?' 'What did you do wrong?'
- Arjun: What?
- Sunita: Arjun, I think our neighbour is asking you to turn down the TV, you know, turn down the volume.
- Neighbour: Exactly, yes please, if that's OK. I mean, if it's no trouble. Thank you.
- Arjun: Oh so you'd like me to turn down the volume?
- Neighbour: Well yes, that's what I'm trying to say.
- Arjun: Oh, sorry. I didn't know it was so noisy. I was just enjoying the game!
- Neighbour: Of course, and if ever my TV's too loud, or anything, please do let me know as well.
- Arjun: Oh sure, yes, OK.
- Neighbour: Well then, many thanks and sorry to trouble you again, and enjoy the rest of the game.
- Arjun & Sunita: Bye.
- Arjun: I didn't know what he wanted.
- Sunita: Well, he is a polite man, a very polite man.
- Arjun: I mean, if he wanted me to turn down the volume, why didn't he just ask?
- Sunita: He didn't ask you?
- Arjun: No, he didn't. He didn't ask me to turn down the TV.
- Sunita: Well, did he say he can hear the TV?
- Arjun: Yes.
- Sunita: And did he say the walls are thin?
- Arjun: Yes, but I didn't know why he said that.
- Sunita: And did he say he's working at home? And that he needs quiet?
- Arjun: Yes.
- Sunita: So there you are. He asked you at least four times to turn down the television, but you didn't understand because you're so ...., let's just say, you didn't understand.
- Arjun: Right. Right. 'I can hear your TV' means 'Please can you turn your TV down?'
- Sunita: Well... yes! People give reasons, you know, for when something is a problem. Arjun, the TV!
- Arjun: Oh yes... because the walls are very thin!
- Sunita: And then Arjun? When you have a minute.... (Arjun reappears.)
- Arjun: Yes my darling?

Someone at the door – The noisy television – Teachers' pack

- Sunita: I'm thirsty.
- Arjun: Oh right. Oh, right! 'I'm thirsty' means 'Can you get me something to drink?'
- Sunita: Ay, you're learning!
- Sunita: Oh thanks!
- Arjun: There's a bit left in the bottom.
