Hello, what's your journey to work like? How do you go to work? I live in north west London and work in central London so it takes me about an hour to go to work.

First I walk to the tube station and take the train. I change trains at Euston. I change from the Northern Line to the Victoria Line and I get off at Victoria and walk to the college where I work. In the morning I set off quite early so the trains aren't crowded and I can usually sit down, but in the evening the trains are very crowded and everybody's squashed together and in the summer it's really terrible.
